

MRS. ROGERS CALM AS SHE WALKS TO THE GALLOWS

With Firm Step She Marches from Cell to Matron's Room, Then to Scaffold.

hands trembled violently, but they had a hard grip on themselves, and there was no hitch. The moment the hands had been tied a rope was passed around the ankles, and this was drawn taut. By the side of the two men stood Sheriff Spofford. He had rehearsed his part well, and amid a profound silence slipped the black cap over the woman's head.

"I now execute the sentence of the law, and may God have mercy on your soul," he said hoarsely.

Then he adjusted the noose. Deputy McCauley pressed his foot on the wooden trigger of the trap and the body shot downward its full length. It swung convulsively and the sheriffs and the dozen witnesses sickened and turned toward the windows, which were heavily draped, but which admitted sufficient light to the chamber of death.

Not a word was spoken for fourteen minutes.

Then Dr. Richmond placed his hands on the pulse. He turned to McCauley, saying: "The woman is dead."

When the drop was sprung the jar echoed across the prison corridors and reached the street, where perhaps fifty persons were standing. The effect was electrical. The crowd shivered and one woman, who had been leaning against a tree, fainted, and slipped into the arms of her escort.

The crowd had assembled at 1 o'clock. Ten minutes before that hour but five persons were visible on the street. The throng comprised women, boys and a few men, and they chatted and laughed to keep their nerves steady.

Most of them stood on the side of the street opposite the prison, but a few had the temerity to cross the road and try to peer into the execution chamber.

When the guard saw this they ran up a curtain in the window and the throng fell back.

Inside, the prisoners and attaches were pacing up and down in a highly nervous state. Several times an aged guard opened the door and passed up and down. He carried a rifle in the hollow of his arm and trembled as he walked. Even the prisoners were allowed to knock off work at noon, as is the custom here when there is an execution.

Several men in the prison are murderers who have been sentenced to death, but saved by Governors less determined than Charles J. Bell.

Perham Collapses.

They were all sent to the basement at noon, and at 6 o'clock will be returned to their cells. The prisoners included Leon Perham, who was implicated in the death of Rogers, but who got a life sentence by turning State's evidence. It was his confession and testimony which convicted Mrs. Rogers, and when he heard the drop fall he is said to have collapsed.

The last woman executed in Vermont prior to Mrs. Rogers was Mrs. Emeline A. Meaker, of Waterbury, who was hanged in 1883 for poisoning her daughter.

This is probably the last hanging Vermont will ever see.

It was hoped that at the last moment Gov. Bell would relent and a final appeal was made by Lawyer McCarthy, who called on the Governor at White River Junction to-day. The lawyer laid great stress on public sentiment and the agitation all over the country for a commutation of the sentence. Gov. Bell's answer was brief, for he said:

"Public sentiment is against the pardoning of Mrs. Rogers, and the law must take its course."

Mr. McCarthy wired the answer to Supt. Lovell at the prison here with a request to break the news to Mrs. Rogers, that he had done everything and that all was over. Supt. Lovell conveyed the message to her as she sat waiting in her cell.

Mrs. Rogers' body has been claimed by her mother and sister and will be buried by them at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., where the mother, Mrs. Josie Callahan, resides.

"I HAVE DONE MY DUTY," SAYS GOV. BELL.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Dec. 8.—Gov. Charles J. Bell was notified by telephone of the execution of Mrs. Rogers. Afterward he gave out the following statement:

"I am much relieved to know that the execution of Mrs. Rogers was accomplished promptly according to law and without any unnecessary delay. "It was a disagreeable duty I have been called upon to perform, but notwithstanding my private views in regard to the matter I have acted on my oath as chief executive, and I believe I have acted in the interest of public good and according to the law-adding sentiment of the people of Vermont. The incident is closed, and I do not care to say anything more at this time."

Gov. Bell left for his home at Walden this afternoon.

DR. CATE AGAIN STRANGELY MISSING

Physician Found After Disappearance a Year Ago Once More Vanishes.

(Special to The Evening World.) LAKEWOOD, N. J., Dec. 8.—Dr. Henry H. Cate, a prominent homeopathic physician, who disappeared from the Hotel Albert in New York a year ago last April, and who was found three months later in Poughkeepsie with his mind a complete blank as to the circumstances of his disappearance, has been missing from his home here since last Monday, and his wife and friends have been unable to get any trace of his whereabouts.

Dr. Cate left here for New York at 10 o'clock last Monday, his wife accompanying him to the station, and he appeared to be in an unusually cheerful mood.

He had an appointment with Dr. Fox, a dentist, of No. 105 East Twenty-fourth street, that afternoon, and he told his wife he would return home immediately afterward. He took $50 to pay the dentist's bill. The physician called at Dr. Fox's office at 4 o'clock and had a tooth treated, and Dr. Fox advised him to remain over until Tuesday, so that the work could be completed. Dr. Cate agreed to this, and informed his wife over the telephone of the change in his plans.

After he left the dentist's office nothing is known of Dr. Cate's movements. He disappeared in exactly the same manner as before.

The police of New York have been asked to send out an alarm for the missing man.

SAID "I WISH TO GOD I WERE DEAD," AND DIED

Sudden Collapse of George Gels Caused a Commotion in Bellevue.

George Gels died to-day in the alcoholic ward of Bellevue Hospital. Gels was sixty years old and lived at No. 29 West Forty-third street. He was admitted to the alcoholic ward Wednesday on a transfer from the German Hospital. Shortly after noon today the man was walking up and down the ward. Suddenly he sat down on the side of his cot, placing his elbows on his knees, rested his head on his hands, which were in an upright position, and exclaimed:

"I wish to God I were dead!"

Hardly had the words left the man's mouth when he fell back on his cot and was dead.

The man's sudden death caused a commotion among the other inmates of the ward, and it was some minutes before they could be quieted.

"SON BOB" M'CURDY OUT OF MUTUAL TOO

Hands in His Resignation to Board of Trustees, Who Promptly Accept It.

"Son Bob" McCurdy is out of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. The Board of Trustees of to-day separated him from his handsome salary and the $115,000 in commissions he has been drawing annually on the foreign business. His resignation was accepted.

The board of Trustees did not elect a new president. The committee appointed to suggest candidates reported "progress." Stuyvesant Fish and Commodore Geary are still taking a strong stand against Charles J. Peabody, who is the Standard Oil candidate. It is said that his election will not be forced until the investigating committee finishes its work. It is believed that Standard Oil crowd has enough votes to control the election.

After the meeting Acting President Cromwell took special pains to make it clear to the reporters that there was no dissension in the board; that the trustees loved each other as brothers.

Mr. Cromwell gave out a typewritten statement in which he said that the nominating committee had been granted an extension of time. Commodore Geary offered a resolution which was a vote of confidence in the investigating committee. The board went on record to stand by the committee, promising that the election of a president should in no way limit the authority or scope of the investigators.

When asked regarding the disposition of "Son-in-law" Theobald, who has been drawing a magnificent commission on the New York business through C. H. Raymond & Co., Acting President Cromwell said that firm had offered to withdraw from its contract at the first of the year, and the matter was at present "in the air."

MORE DELAY FOR HUMMEL.

Not to Be Tried Until Appellate Bench Passes on Case.

Abraham Hummel obtained further delay in his pending trial to-day when his Counsel, John B. Stanchfield, succeeded in having the argument over the paneling of a special jury put over until next Tuesday. Assistant District Attorney Garvan appeared before Justice Rogers in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court to-day and asked for a special panel for the trial of the lawyer on Dec. 13.

Mr. Stanchfield asked for a delay until Tuesday so that he might appeal from the decision of Justice Truax denying Mr. Hummel a chance of venue. Justice Rogers granted the delay so that the case will not come to trial before the Appellate Division has decided on the appeal from Justice Truax's decision.

BOY TORTURED WITH BURNING OIL

Nine-Year-Old Lad's Face Terribly Burned—Accuses Youth of Eighteen.

With his eyebrows seared away and his small face one big puckered blister Antonio Francesco, a nine-year-old boy, of No. 412 East Eleventh street, told a story of unique misreatment in the Yorkville Court to-day. He accused Laurence Scumafredo, eighteen years old, of No. 181 First avenue, of torturing him with burning oil.

Here is the story which the victim told: "Lawrence lighted a match and held it close to my forehead. Then he suddenly blew a mouthful of kerosene into my face. The match set it on fire and the oil stuck to my face and burned me. For a minute my face was just like a torch. I screamed and screamed and he ran away."

Young Scumafredo works in the Trow book bindery. His father is a prosperous barber at No. 440 West Eleventh street. Magistrate Baker, after hearing all the witnesses this afternoon, was convinced that the burning of little Francesco was an accident, and discharged the boy. He was emulating a fire eater he had seen in a museum and did not see the light vapor from his lips. There was nothing to show that the action of Scumafredo was deliberate.

TREASON LEAK TO FRENCH CABINET

Charge Made That Germany Was Warned of Pact with Great Britain.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—During a disorderly session of the Chamber of Deputies to-day, M. Fernin Faure, Republican Nationalist, made the sensational accusation that a private despatch from Paul Cambon, the French Ambassador at London, advising the government of Great Britain's readiness to make an accord with France against Germany, was communicated to Germany the day after it was received here, although only President Loubet, the then Premier, Minister M. Delcasse and Premier Rouvier knew of its existence. The Premier characterized M. Faure's assertion as gossip, whereupon the Deputy responded that it was a question of high treason.

At the request of the Premier the discussion of M. Faure's interpretation went over until after the foreign budget had been considered.

CARTER B. HARRISON DEAD.

Brother of Ex-President Had Been Federal Official in Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 8.—Capt. Carter B. Harrison, brother of the late President Benjamin Harrison, died yesterday at his home near Murfreesboro, Tenn., aged sixty-five years. Capt. Harrison was elected by his brother to the Middle District of Tennessee. He served gallantly through the Civil war on the Federal side. He is survived by his widow, a daughter and a son.

SEA CAPTAIN MAKES SURE TO END LIFE

First Used a Razor, and Then Is Supposed to Have Jumped Overboard.

A trail of blood and a bloody razor help to tell the story, the police say, of the disappearance of Frederick W. Longworth, master of the British steamship Simon, now lying in East River, at the foot of Ninth street, Long Island City. Their theory is that he cut his throat early to-day and then, finding he had bungled the job, jumped overboard. The river is being dredged for the suicide's body.

The Simon has been in dock for several days taking aboard a cargo of pig and sheep iron. Capt. Longworth, a tall bearded Englishman, seemed to be in his usual health and spirits last night.

This morning, when the steward, William Crew, came up on deck he found a puddle of blood upon the plank. From it came a trail of red that took him down a companion way to the captain's cabin. The bunk in the cabin was dyed red and there was a razor with blood upon its blade on the floor.

Crew at once summoned the Long Island City police. Detectives investigated and decided that the case was one of probable suicide. They did not suspect murder. The policemen took charge of Longworth's effects and began dredging in hopes of finding his remains.

The missing man was forty-six years old and had a family living in Cheshire, England. So far as the crew knows he had no serious troubles of any sort.

SHAW NOT READY TO EASE MONEY MARKET.

Secretary Says He Will Not Make Deposits Unless Situation Grows Materially Worse.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Secretary Shaw announced after the Cabinet meeting to-day that the subject of making deposits in national banks to relieve the money situation had not been mentioned at the meeting.

The Secretary added that he did not expect to make any deposits to-day or take any action unless the situation grew materially worse.

SIX YEARS FOR BUSINESS MAN ON ARSON CHARGE.

Philadelphian Admitted Setting Fire to a Mill, but Claimed It Was by Accident.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 8.—John W. Priestley, a manufacturer of Philadelphia, was to-day sentenced by Judge Jolline to six years and six months imprisonment for arson. Priestley was convicted several weeks ago in the Camden Court of setting fire to the mill of George A. Shimer & Son. A writ of error will be taken out by counsel for the prisoner.

WORRY HELPED KILL SENATOR MITCHELL

Member from Oregon Had Been Implicated by Government in Land Frauds.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—United States Senator Mitchell died here this afternoon, diabetes being his chief ailment, although his system had been run down by worry since the government implicated him in the land frauds some months ago.

The Senator's condition became critical yesterday, and the announcement was somewhat of a surprise, although it was known he had been falling for some time.

Last night his doctors gave some slight hope, but to-day he sank so rapidly after dawn that they announced he would die before night.

Desperate efforts were made to prolong his life by the injection of saline solution and the use of stimulants, but the patient failed to respond and died shortly after noon.

FOOD CAN DO THINGS

Real Miracles Worked in the Body.

From Manitoba a lady writes her reasons for the faith that is in her as to miracles wrought in the present day:

"I have been a great traveler in this and lands beyond the sea," she says, "and it is not surprising that my digestive apparatus never very strong, should have become thoroughly deranged from the effect of the starchy, highly seasoned, greasy dishes usually set before wayfarers."

"I became the prey of all the distress and wretchedness that accompany dyspepsia, even to the development of paralysis of the lining of the stomach, when I could eat nothing, but merely sip warm milk, till I was nearly starved and looked like a half-life skeleton."

"My brain grew sluggish, and insomnia punished me till I became a hysterical wreck. My only hope and desire at this time was that I might reach the end of a painful life, and that speedily."

"I heard of the prodigatized Grape-Nuts food, and some months ago, without one grain of faith in it, I bought a box. I found, to my surprise, that after one day's use of it I was already benefited, and the time I had used all of the first package I became convinced that the days of miracles are not yet over, so great was the improvement that had come over me. It was the opening of the door, as it were, to good health and energy of brain and body. It gave me new vigor, mental and physical; my digestion restored, all the distressing symptoms of a disordered stomach passed away, and the nervous, hysterical woman at last began to know what it really is to live. My eyes grew brighter and my body rounded out with returning flesh. In the first three weeks I gained 10 pounds in weight and 100 in strength and energy."

"The indescribable relief that came when I realized that I could discard the nauseating drugs with which I had been so long dosing myself and use in their stead a food so delicious and strengthening as Grape-Nuts may be imagined."

"I write this in simple gratitude, for I feel that Grape-Nuts food has brought back to me all the joy of living." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Digestion is one of the most complex functions of the human body, yet it is the most simple. Digestion is simply the converting of food into a condition in which it can be added to the blood.
